Dear Cleon:

I have just been reviewing our Hungarian Research Project's budget and find that our financial position is somewhat better than I had thought it would be and should certainly see us through the summer and early autumn activities without difficulty. Moreover, it is still a bit difficult for me to be sure what unforeseen expenses we might run into in the fall while completing the manuscript and getting it into shape for publication. Consequently, it seems best for me to defer any requests for a possible supplementary grant until the end of the summer. Please let me know if this is not satisfactory from your side. I shall be out of town from tomorrow, but can be reached through the office.

Best wishes for the summer.

Yours,

Henry L. Roberts
