

Interviewer: M. Podhorsky
Place:
Date:
Child interview:CH-12-M

I. CHARACTER DESCRIPTION

The son of a tailor, this young boy who is the only child of <sup>parents,</sup> is nothing of the spoiled or petted ~~an~~ only child. He is mature for his age, well mannered, quiet, disciplined, easy to talk to, ~~an~~ intelligent. He carefully weighs his replies. Despite the fact that he has had no religious instructions, (neither in school nor elsewhere); his mother taught him a little.) he has a strict moral code of his own which he lives by. For instance, he put as the greatest man in the world God, and Him alone.

On the whole, it was a pleasure to talk to such a nice youngster. The father still has the last word in the family, and the boy accepts his authority as supreme. Whenever he talked of his ~~an~~ family, it was always 'Daddy' first, or mostly 'Daddy' alone. Although he admitted that it is his mother who is stricter with him, he added 'That is, of course, because she is with me more.' His father works at his profession as a tailor, and also a part-time job at a golf club in Old Greenwich. His mother works in a factory, and the youngster is left very much on his own during the daytime. He reads quite a lot. I have seen sports magazines in his room. Also, he listens a great deal to ~~the~~ television.

CH-12-M

II. PERSONAL INVENTORY

AGE; 10

Sex: male

Religion: Roman Catholic

Respondent lived in Pecs, which is southern part of Hungary. He spent all of his life in this city

Attended four grades of grade school in Pecs, which was ~~xxx~~ called Lyceum, which was not a public school. According to the boy his father paid for education rather than let him go to school where he would have associated with very low-class kids.

Both respondent's parents are living. He is the only child. Parents are here with him in the United States. Maternal grandparents both living, and the father's mother. All are back in Pecs.

In the United States the boy attended the Hart School in Stamford, where he finished the ~~ix~~ fifth grade this year. They live in Stamford, Conn. on the first floor of a two apartment house. I conducted the ~~w~~ interview at their apartment. It was an extremely nice and cleanly kept apartment. There are two large rooms, kitchen, bath and hall. The boy has a room of his own.