2. First he told me his name, then he asked me to cross it out. "Why do you need my name?" he asked. "We don't need it", I said. "My role in the revolution", he continued was important; I have my brothers and sisters in Hungary. And, anyway, I don't want my name to be entered in your files." "We don't want your name", I said. "I don't like that you have the other informations about me in your files." I told him that this information is taken from what he said during the interview.
