Nonconformist Artists in the USSR 1956–1986
OPEN SOCIETY ARCHIVES (OSA), established in 1995 by George Soros, is an independent international archival institution affiliated with the Central European University in Budapest, Hungary. OSA obtains, preserves and makes available to public research resources in three main areas: the history of communism and cold war, particularly in Central and Eastern Europe; human rights issues and movements with particular emphasis on the second half of the twentieth century; and the philanthropic activities of the Soros foundations network and the activity of the Central European University.

REFERENCE INFORMATION PAPERS (RIP), compiled by staff archivists, are thematic finding aids aiming to guide researchers to all the relevant archival materials at OSA that relate to a certain topic. Issues of the RIP series are published irregularly, and always reflect the status quo of the holdings. The catalogue entries indicate the exact fonds reference, date span, approximate quantity, and, occasionally, medium of the records.

Publications by the RFE/RL Research Institute

Press Surveys, averaging 15 pages each, consist of original language articles or English translations of the most important articles appearing in the East European press. Such surveys were made for Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, and Romania.

Information Items are based on interviews made in Western Europe with visitors and refugees from Eastern Europe.

Situation Reports contain summaries of current developments in Eastern Europe. These reports were prepared by the national units twice a week.

Background Reports are special studies providing perspectives on current events and trends in the communist world. The reports were issued on a regular basis, as well as in response to sudden developments, such as government reshuffle or an unannounced meeting of communist leaders.
